Instructors

Christoph Sommer is a Certified Advanced Rolfer™ and teacher of the European Modular Format at the European Rolfing® Association. He has been practicing in Munich since 1986. Additional training in fascia- and membrane technique (Peter Schwind) and visceral osteopathy (J.-P. Barral) has lead him to broadening the classic structural perspective. With a reefined spectrum of touch - communicating with the inner human shape - his work aims at enhancing the potential for movement and human selfexpression in the context of gravity.

Rita Geirola is a Certified Rolfer™ since 1987 and a Rolf Movement™ Practitioner since 1997. She also is an Advanced Rolfer™ since 2005. Her background are studies in the field of Physical Education and of the Mézières Method. She is certified as a Feldenkrais Practitioner since 1992 and a Pilates Instructor since 1998. Her main curiosity is finding different approaches and different languages to be able to tone with individual client's needs and resources in order to achieve a full development of their potentiality and integration. The work with Hubert Godard and Peter Levine and the point of view of M. Feldenkrais have had a deep impact on her personal and professional development. They are also the bases of her teaching.

Konrad Obermeier is a Certified Advanced Rolfer™ and Rolf Movement™ Practitioner. He is member of the Life Sciences Faculty of the Rolf Institute (USA) and Anatomy Instructor for the European Rolfing® Association. He is practicing as Rolfer™ in Munich since 1991 and teaches workshops in Visceral Manipulation and Embryology. Over the past 20 years he has contributed in different settings to the educational processes of Rolfing® Cranio-Sacral Therapy, Visceral Osteopathy, Continuum Movement and Yoga.
